

Emergency procedures in dialysis workshop, Launceston, Tasmania.

Renal Society of Australasia Branch Education Seminar.

I was honoured to be invited to facilitate and present at this education event for Tasmanian RSA members.

This workshop allowed attendees to practice emergency management scenarios in the safety of simulation in small groups. The sessions were interactive and immersed attendees in the management of the simulated patient on dialysis with various problems. The scenarios used involved dealing with patients with hypotension, chest pain and access related issues during dialysis. There was also discussion around management issues for vascular access and a presentation on the Herald Bleed.

The presentation on benefits of being an EDTNA/ERCA member was well received and there was widespread from the group to join, get involved and try to attend EDTNA/ERCA conferences in the future.

Those who attended all gave highly positive feedback in their evaluations.
