

An extraordinary opportunity to be part of an extraordinary team delivering renal education to renal nurses
from Africa and the Middle East!

---

Are you a dynamic individual who enjoys teaching and facilitating learning and development of other? These positions will suit individuals who have high level clinical skills in renal nursing and currently working in direct clinical practice in a senior role. All travel and accommodation costs will be met for the successful individual. An honorarium will be payable from Fresenius Medical Care for contribution to the program.

Three vacancies have become available to join the existing EDTNA/ERCA faculty who deliver the EDTNA/ERCA & FMC Renal Nurse Education Program. One of the three vacancies is available for a fluent French speaking renal nurse. Applicants for the remaining two vacancies must have excellent command of written and spoken English.

The program is now into its 14th year and supports the professional development of renal nurses from across Africa, Middle East & Turkey. Annually approximately 120 nurses from 15 countries attend this highly successful program.

This 3 day program will be delivered in mid November, 2020 (exact date is currently being finalized). The successful candidate will have the capacity and commitment to:

1. Attend two weekend program development meetings held in London.
(dates to be confirmed)
2. Support the delivery of the program in November.
3. Engage in video conferences with faculty.

Interested applicants should send an updated CV directly to Dr. John Sedgewick (Faculty Chair) to john.sedgewick@btopenworld.com.

Opportunities will be available for short listed candidates to have a video conference with Dr. Sedgewick to discuss the positions further.

Closing Date - 13 March, 2020
